A Letter from the Editors

JAMES MADISON HIGH SCHOOL
TOYOTA

The yearbook is an account of the entire scope of Madison and its surroundings. During the 1981-1982 year, the Montpelier staff has been gathering a selection of events to cover in this publication. The purpose of the work is not to remind the reader of a six-class routine he or she followed in the past; it is to convey the spirit, feelings, and experiences of this specific time.

Special happenings and new ideas are the focus of coverage on the pages that compose this book. Photojournalism, a reporting of facts and attitudes, is a theme with emphasis on the unusual. Using major magazines as a basis, the staff has taken characteristic format traits and applied them to publishing a book which contains the highlights of the Vienna community, and most of all, the people who live here.

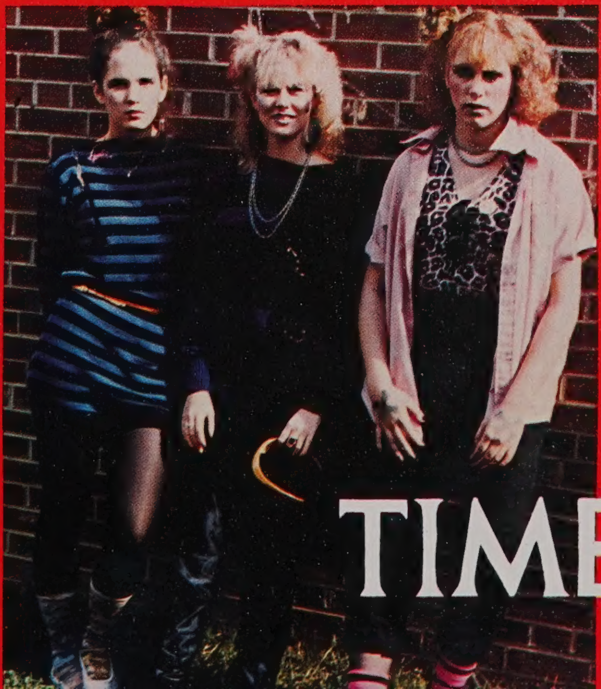
OOH OOH WE'RE GONNA CRUSH 'EM

Homecoming — that long awaited and short-lived week of high spirits. Once again, Madison's Homecoming was a great success in all respects.

It all began on Tuesday, "50's Day." Had one been a visitor to the school that day, he might have thought that all of Madison had reverted to the days of saddle shoes, slicked hair, and leather jackets.

The next day, dubbed "60's Day," captured glimpses of flower children, long hair, and peace signs. The most popular day, though, was Thursday — Punk Rock Day. Madison Students dressed in their most funkiest clothes and accessories.

To top a wonderful week, the football team fought on to victory with a 20-0 win against Langley.

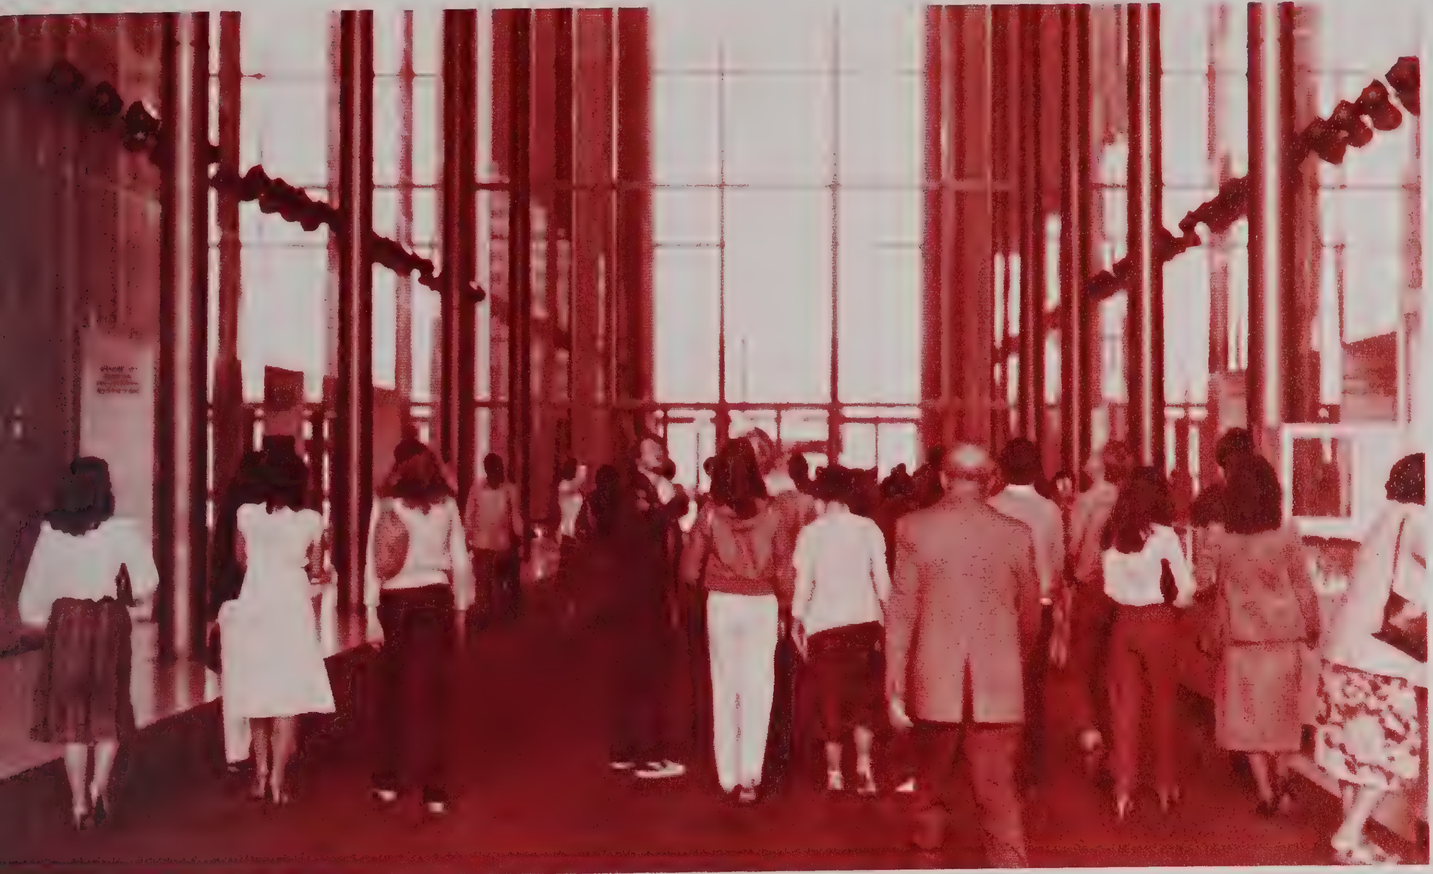


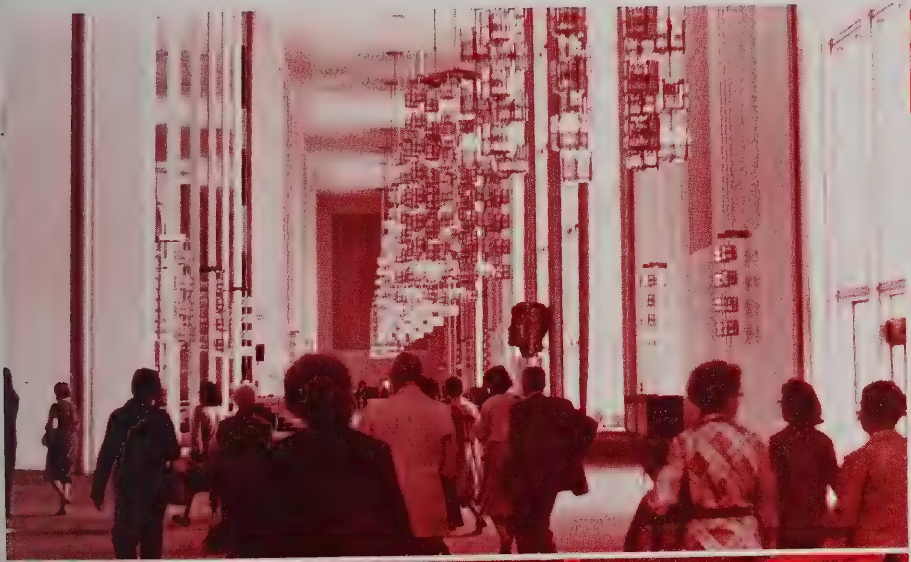
Nation

James Madison Starts A Revolution

Courses in United States History and Government are one way students get exposure to their American heritage. There is, however, an alternate method if one wants to enjoy such subjects. Madison is lucky to be located in reach of the nation's capital. Museums, theaters, and monuments provide a potpourri of reasons for various classes to take a break from their usual routines and investigate Washington, D.C.

The variety of attractions in the capital are not restricted to only the study of history; science, foreign culture, and politics are all represented. Included in the trips taken by Madison students this year were: the annual trip to the Smithsonian for Biology I students, the National Town Meeting at the Kennedy Center for English 11 students, the National Theater's presentation of "Evita" for Spanish IV and V classes, and A Midsummer's Night Dream for various english classes. Obviously our school takes advantage of the history and resources behind its name, but what do Washingtonians think when two or three bus loads of Warhawks converge on their hometown?





TIME

Warhawk Esprit

It is true that Madison has the top football team. Why? They have outstanding players and the best coach in the county, but there's more. Behind the team is a keyed up, enthusiastic, and highly spirited school full of people backing them every inch of the way. They show their support in many ways ... For homecoming there was dress-up week; for a couple of games there were pep rallies; and every Friday the students supplied support and excitement to boost the players on.

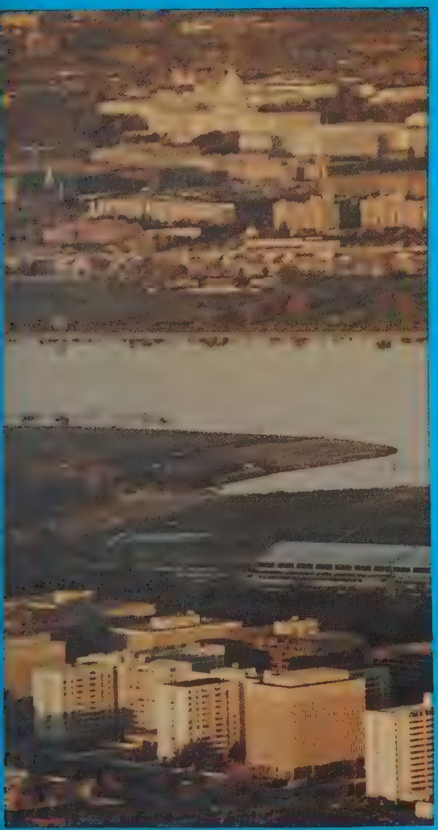
World

A Hawk's-Eye View

Unfortunately Warhawks cannot fly with the ease of their mascot. To get a better view of the area around Vienna required a pilot and a plane. Walt Starling, a traffic pilot for WASH radio station, agreed to take a photographer along on one of his traffic reports, and these pictures were the result.

This is a small sampling of the world around Madison. Vienna is located among a series of suburbs and towns which have begun to expand rapidly over the past years. Buildings and plazas are being constructed around the area, and centers such as Tyson's Corner and Fair Oaks are the places to see movies and shop.

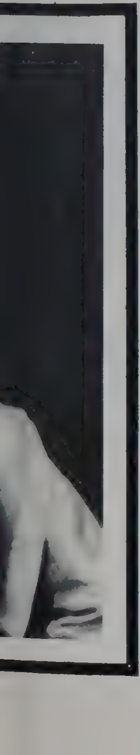
Since there is access to many large centers, the challenge is to get away from it all. For that reason Ocean City, Va. Beach, and the Shenandoah are favorite spots when the town of Vienna gets too crowded.

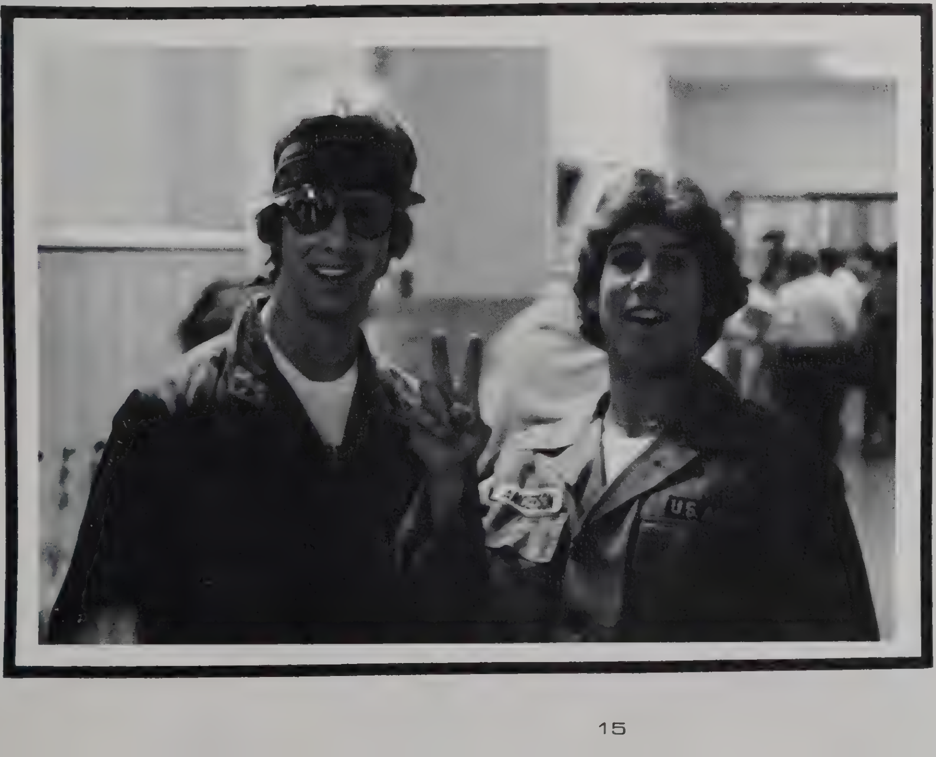


TIME.

One of the many ways Madison students show spirit and unity is displayed on "dressup days. On designated days, everyone dresses up in costumes varying from Mickey Mouse to a punk rock star. Especially designed for these occassions is Homecoming Week. This year, the themes for spirit week were "50's day," "60's day," "Punk Rock day," and "Colors day."

Madison On Parade





It is the opportunity of the year to show off personal flare. Creativity does not always coincide with coordinated colors and subtle tastes, but why would army troops worry with such details? Students shed their stereotypes of book-carrying, hurried pedestrians and assume their odd, if not comical, alter egos!

TIME.

A Year In Review

Time, the opening of this edition, is a glimpse at the beginning of a year. Through September's colorful events the attitudes and priorities of '82 unfold. This is only a handful of many happenings which occur in an academic surrounding. The rest of the book completes coverage while Time, introduces "A Year In Review."

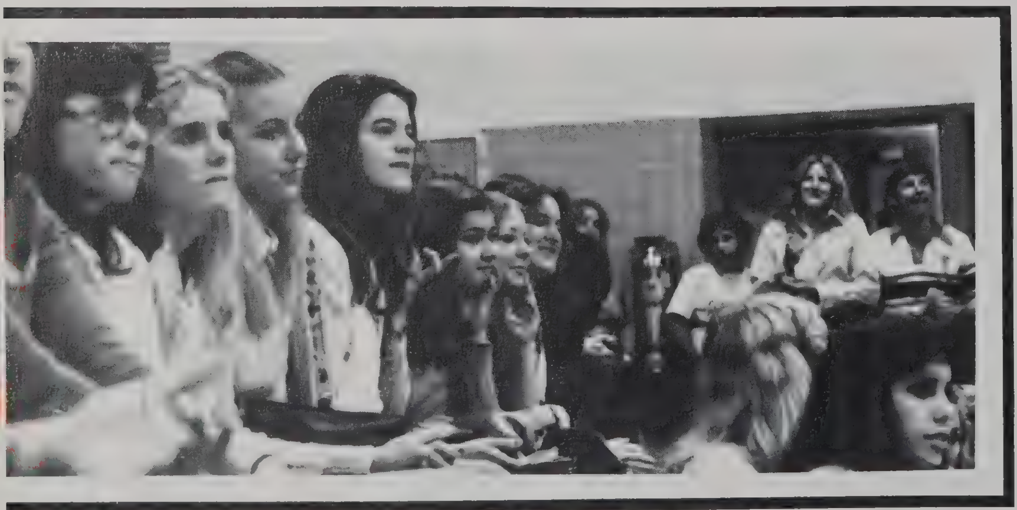
Yes. Madison has got the spirit, and this spirit is shown during many pep rallys. The band, cheerleaders, and the Pom-Pon squad promote, support, and urge the Warhawk team on to VICTORY!!



LIFE

Rock and Roll Fantasy

The highlight of this year's Homecoming week was the parade with a theme of Rock-n-Roll. The parade began at East street. It was lead by the band which played the fight song and the pom-pons followed doing a routine. The climax of the parade was the colorful floats. Acquiring the award for first place was the sophomore class with the theme from the Doors.

LIFE®

To Build A Float

The Homecoming parade showed off the imaginative floats conceived by some hard-working, enthusiastic people. Later, at the game, there were some beaming sophomores when the winner of the best float award was announced. The juniors' float was awarded the title of "Most creative." All of the floats were well done; the students involved are to be congratulated for putting their time and effort into what turned out to be great floats.

Long live Rock! The Rock & Roll theme of spirit week had a lot of people showing their spirit at the risk of looking strange . . . especially on Punk/New Wave day when the most poeple participated. There were some pretty kinky, strange outfits seen in the halls. It was an example of the great spirit of Madison students. Rock on, Madisonians!

Miss Madison '82

The 1982 Miss Madison contest was a great success. Nine contestants were judged on their talent, beauty and intelligence. It was an exciting night with many good singing and dancing performances by the contestants. In the end Kathy Murphy was crowned 1982 Miss Madison. Runners up included Tina Vanison, Autumn Little, and Boneita Thompson.

The ten competitors in the pageant were Jennie Crim, Karen DiPietro, Autumn Little, Boneita Thompson, Tina Vanison, Jean Wakefield, and Carolyn Wrenn. Also present for the evening were seven former Miss Madison's. From most to least recent, they were Ana Parra, Laurie McVey, Barbara Abel, Cindy Hoston, Missy Shelton, Patty Jaggers, and Linda Russell. They performed a skit while scores were being counted. The final results were: fourth, Autumn Little, third, Jennie Crim, second, Boneita Thompson, first runner-up Tina Vanison, who also won the Miss Congeniality award, and the winner, Kathy Murphy.

The junior cheerleaders show their stuff

The teams lined up for the kick off looking ready to kill, and the 1982 Powder Puff Football game began. The beginning of the game didn't go all too well for the juniors with the seniors scoring four touchdowns. The juniors came back with one touchdown at the end of the third quarter and finally started to get the hang of the game, but it was a little too late. The seniors were the victors thirty-six to six.

1981-82 brought about several good shows. The new style for T.V. was more family oriented. A major standout was NBC's Hill Street Blues, which is sure to be a long running series. Magnum P.I. is also one of the top shows of this year. A few shows from years past, like M.A.S.H. and the Muppets, have still managed to hold top ratings.

1981-82 will probably be known as the year of the soaps. Many students' after school activities have been scheduled around General Hospital. The halls silence when someone asks what happened last Wednesday. The obsession has become a national craze with viewers of all ages and sexes. The music of this year has included an endless variety of styles and performers. Nonetheless, Rock-n-Roll has prevailed. Nationally, "Bette Davis Eyes" by Kim Carnes and "Physical" by Olivia Newton-John won the top two spots on the charts. Along with new performers such as Bob & Doug McKinzie and Devo, the year of 81-82 has seen the return of Simon and Garfunkel. While performing in New York's Central Park, the famous team from the sixties attracted record crowds. Pat Benetar has become one of the best-known female artists with her new releases. While the field of entertainment has gained so many singers this year, it also lost one. Harry Chapin, known for "Cat's in the Cradle", died.

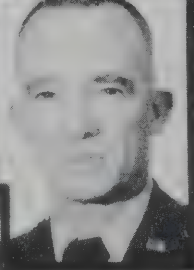
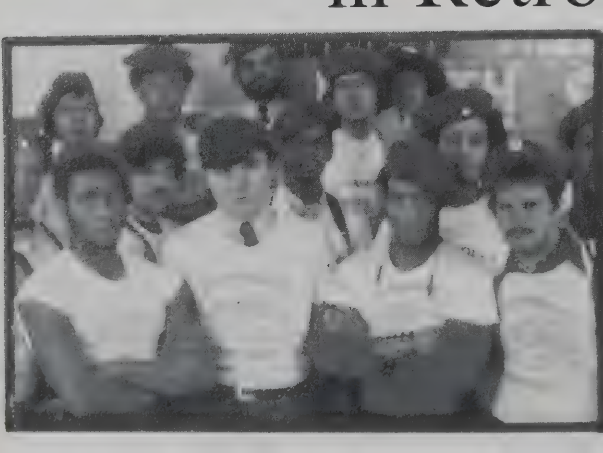
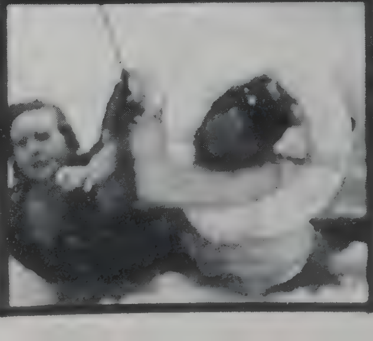
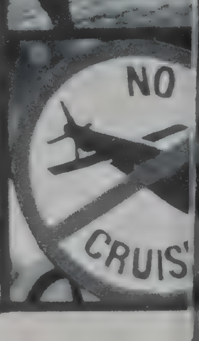
The News Year in Retrospect

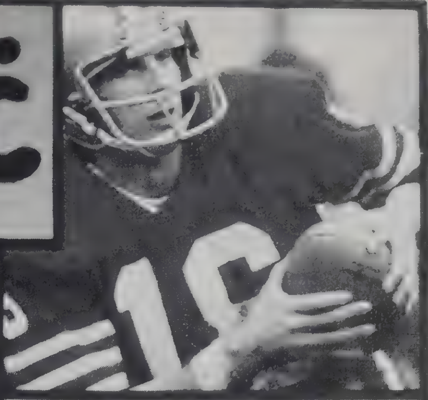


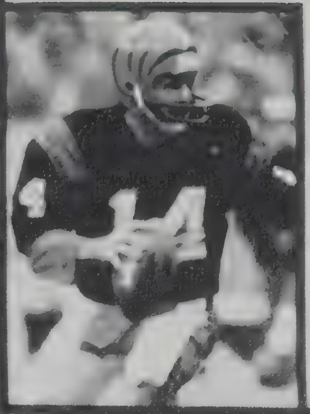


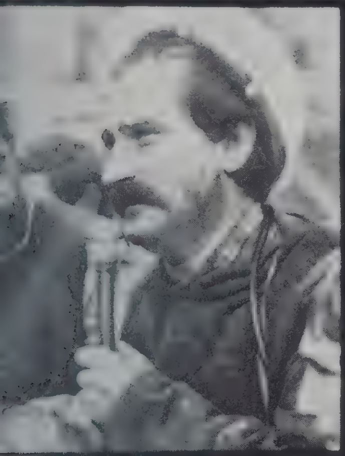


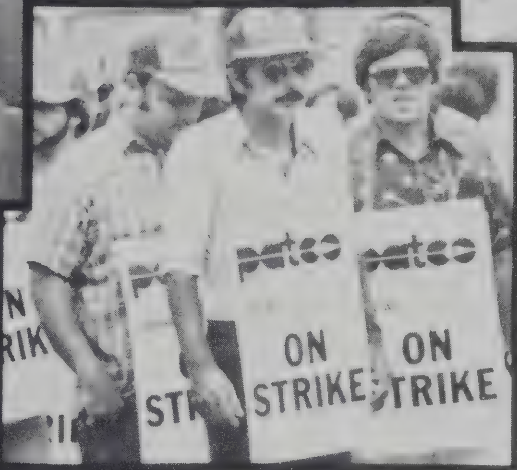


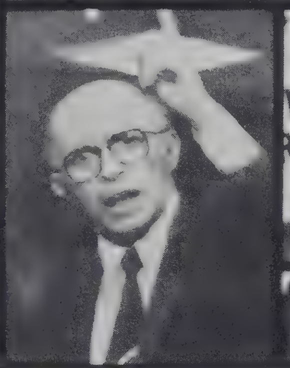
SOLIDARNOŚĆ

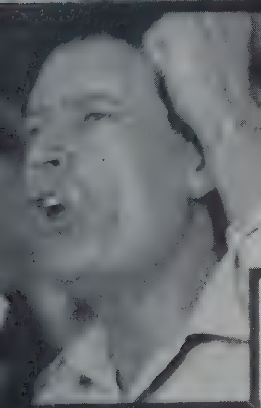








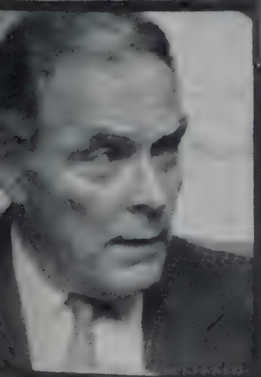


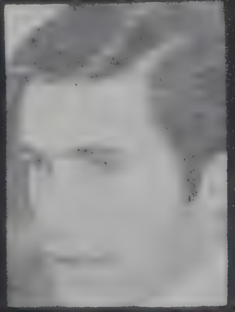


The year of 1981-82 was one of high aspirations and unparalleled turmoil. Shortly after President Reagan took office, would-be assassin John Hinckley fired shots that struck Reagan in the side and Press Secretary James Brady in the head. During the year, there were two more assassination attempts. In Egypt, President Sadat was shot and killed, and in Rome Pope John Paul II was shot and survived.

The world saw the rise of Solidarity, the first labor coalition to ever be formed in a communist country. Massive strikes took place until the imposition of martial law in Poland.

Other items pervading the news included the second flight of the space shuttle Columbia, the wedding of the Prince of Wales to Lady Diana, the first female Supreme Court Justice, the crash of an Air Florida jet into the Potomac, and the conviction of Wayne Williams for two of the numerous Atlanta mass-murders.





Just A Few More

Editor's note: A tribute to Seniors.

All of us feel a little ambivalent about leaving school. Some of us have asked, "is there life after high school?" Who among us hasn't wished at some point that college applications would just go away and leave us alone? They said the third quarter was going to be the hardest, and senioritis came on fast — that feeling that the whole mess was about to end. The big changes in the future sound exciting as well as frightening, starting with the immediate post-graduation beach pilgrimage and a lawless weekend of celebration. At any rate, seniors, good luck in whatever comes your way. — Editor, Portfolio.

While searching for the legendary elephant burial ground, our expedition strayed. We found an uncharted cave and entered. There were several creatures strolling around; we believed that they belonged to the species "Madisoni Studentius". They appeared to be peaceful until the cave was filled with the piercing sound of ringing bells. Instantly more creatures, all pushing and shoving, began pouring out of the walls. In the mass of confusion, two packed mules were swept away never to be seen again, but we survived this journey.

With friends like Tim Buckley, nobody will get anything done!

Through our four years of high school here at Madison, we have all become like one big happy family. We will never forget the many happy memories and the friendships that we have made. Nor shall we forget the many hardships along the way. This time of life shall be treasured by all of us for years to come.

BOSOM BUDDIES

Friend (frend) n. 1. A person to whom one is attached by affection; an intimate acquaintance; one well inclined toward a cause. A large population of friends can be found in and about James Madison High School. Many travel in groups of two to five, although as many as fifteen friends at one time have been observed conversing in the hall between classes, causing serious back-ups and delays to class.

Friends often congregate before and after school, between classes and during lunch where laughter and sometimes a good elephant joke can be heard from these groups.

Mass quantities of friends go to football games. After four years in high school, seniors have often accumulated more friends than they know what to do with. This surplus of friends who have yet to graduate will be available for companionship when their senior friends graduate. Acquiring many friends at Madison is not a difficult task; it is quite rewarding and highly recommended.

Going Punk

Seniors have never been short on spirit. The class of eighty-two has always participated in all events, from Punk Rock Day to spirit chains. They came dressed in some of the most unusual and the most creative costumes ever seen. And who could forget the spirit chains that they stretched half way around the lunch room? Yes, the Seniors will always have spirit!

WE'VE GOT THE SPIRIT!

Spirit week is always a lot of fun at Madison. Punk Rock has to be one of the best liked days because people get dressed up in the craziest outfits. Pink, purple, and green hair can be seen on many people along with glitter and wild sun-glasses.

Homecoming this year was an incredible success. Senior princess Violet Woo was crowned Homecoming Queen. The floats made their traditional appearance, or tried to. Some broke down halfway across the field while others were pulled majestically by power lawnmowers.

KIDS TEACH SENIORS

Baffled and bewildered by a long day of being constantly observed, Corey Daboin and Kathy Walsted hug their young teacher goodbye.

Beverly Irving enjoys the intellectual stimulation of pressing her ink-stained hand on paper. Little does she know, however, that these prints supposedly provide great insight into the growth and development of a child.

FACTS OF LIFE

Have you ever wondered where those cute little tykes you see frequently in the halls are headed? Bet you thought the freshmen were just getting shorter each year. Actually there is a day care center here at Madison. Seniors such as Mary Brown, Kris Meheuron, and Tammy Frye take a child development class, enabling them to study the behavior patterns and growth of these baby hawks who are perhaps somewhat smarter than the freshmen ......

HOW DO YOU SPELL RELIEF?

An unidentifiable student takes his entrance exam for The Diesel Mechanics.

The end is near for the senior class. The past four years of strain and pressure are almost over, its time for life to begin. Its time for fulltime jobs, college, and careers. Every senior has a different idea of what they are going to do.

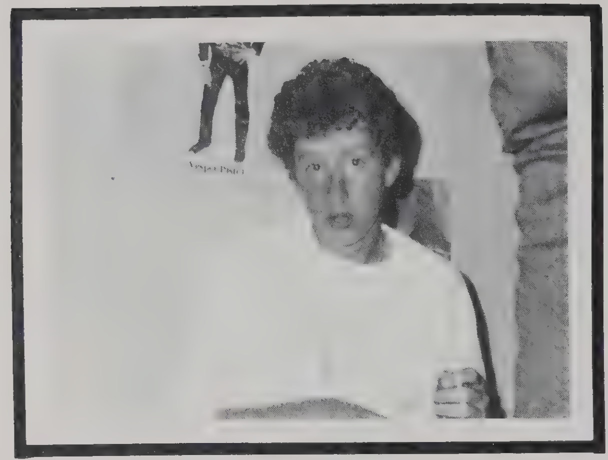
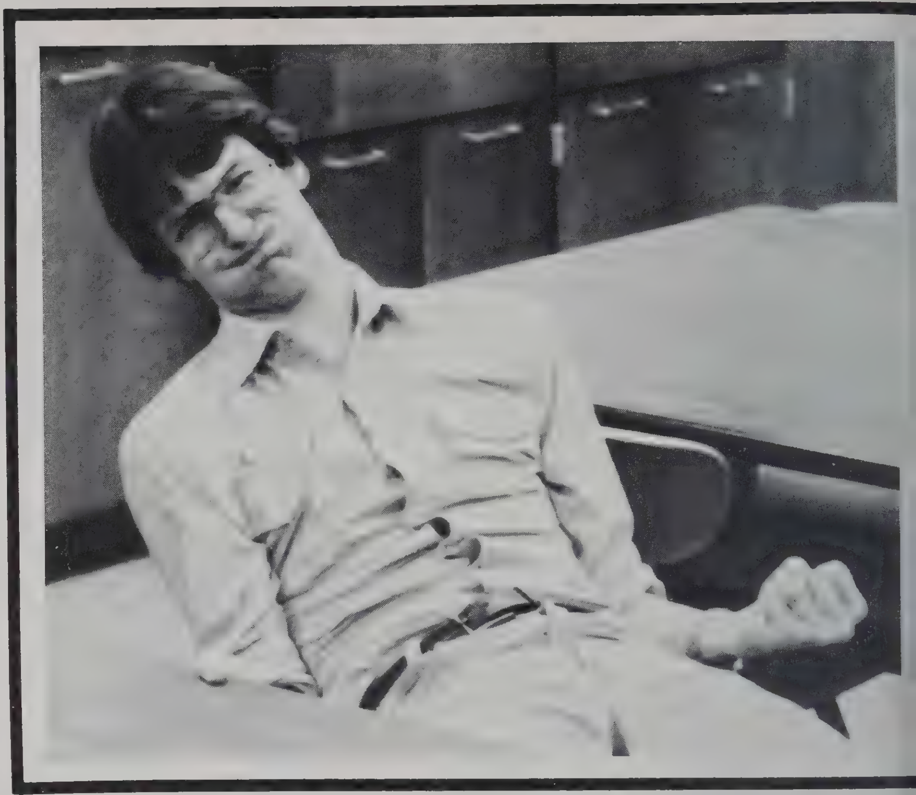
Who knows what Mike Svat and Todd Norse plan to do. We just hope they don't do it here.

Rx PRESCRIPTION FOR PRESSURE



Scott Steele deals with pressure through self induced comas.



This is what happens when pressure goes unvented. As you can see, Bra Hiebert needs the ICTIAMS.

Many seniors take difficult classes and at least try to get halfway decent grades to get into college. All of this can add up to an enormous amount of pressure which can lead to serious problems. To minimize explosions, take the advice of these pictured students, or contact the ICTIAMS (I Can't Take It Any More Society).

"Hey Jeff, my parents are going out of town for the weekend!"

"Really, that's great Kim."

"Guess what Chrissy, Kim's parents are going away this weekend. She's got the whole house to herself."

"Hey Debbie have you heard the news? Kim's having a party!"

And so begins the usual gossip, of course the last person to know about Kim's party is Kim herself.

"Oh well, I might as well have a party, everyone is coming over anyway."

The ritualistic duty of hiding the breakables is the first job. Washing the trash cans and turning them into coolers is the next job. Now comes the fun.

The doorbell rings and ten people are at the door. The party has begun. The doorbell is ringing off the wall now as people arrive for their favorite pastime sport of — partying.

As the house becomes full, the party moves upstairs to the kitchen and someone spots the fridge. Ten guys make a mad dash for a leftover piece of apple pie. A bag of potatoe chips is devoured within minutes. The kitchen is drained of food and drink as the police are seen driving up the road.

When the doorbell rings the house is quiet. One hundred and forty-nine friends bolt rapidly out the back door. When the door is opened the house is completely empty, except for Kim and one lonesome cat purring away at the officers' feet.

TEENAGE WONDERLAND

People often wonder why seniors keep on studying. After all, this is their last year and they have already been accepted to colleges. THREATS: A very successful study motivater used by parents. Boot camp, military school, 30 years of hard labor, or restriction are a few of the many ways parents keep their young offspring in line.

Saying Goodbye

It's almost over for the Class of '82 and as we look back, it's hard to believe we made it through. There were some good times and some bad times. We made many good friends who won't be soon forgotten. There is no doubt that we are glad it is over, but at the same time it's a little sad that it has come to an end.

When we began four years ago as freshmen, the outlook was grim. The school was so big, the teachers gave homework on the first day, and we were convinced that our assigned lockers didn't exist. After a while, though, things began to fall into place, and we decided that it might be fun after all.

When we were freshmen we swore up and down that when we became sophomores we wouldn't harass the freshmen, because we knew what it was like, and it wasn't nice.

No sooner had our second year begun than we found ourselves convincing some confused lad that his third period class really was on the third floor by the pool.

Then came the big fifteen and eight months, the age kids live for and parents fear. We drove cautiously down the road as parents helplessly pressed their feet to the floor and wondered how many car payments were left. Then when we got our liscenses, the parents were out; our friends were in; the windows were rolled down; and the radio was cranked up.

High school was not all fun though. There were piles of homework, exams, teachers, and worst of all, those stupid standardized tests where you had to fill in about a thousand little circles with a number two pencil.

Finally, our last year came and many of us found ourselves stricken with an all too common disease known as Senior Slump. Senior Slump is lack of concentration, inability to pass tests, and a basic urge to get as far away from school as possible.

It all seems as though it would go on forever, but it finally has come to an end. Now our attention is turned to more important things other than high school. Plans are being made for graduation, college, and Ocean City — SURFS UP!

Congratulations Class of '82, we finally made it.

Juniors

The Juniors find this year to be one of their busiest ever. This is a time filled with college preparation. During the year the Juniors will take their PSAT's and their SAT's.

They will work especially hard to keep their grades high because they know that this year's grades will play an important part in college admissions.

The Juniors also find that they are now eligible for many new activities such as Madisonettes and the National Honor Society.
Finally, they may order their treasured class rings.

This year's Junior class officers: Treas. — Robby Kane; Sec. — Joanne Hilber
V. Pres. — Tim Hecht; Pres. — Andy Little.

Nicole Drapeau, a prime example of the typical "preppie," relaxes in the cafeteria during lunch. Preppies have a very strict dress code. Generally anything conservative will do, but there are a few popular styles that most of the Madison preppies display. For example: khakis, loafers, plaids, ribbons, argyle socks, and anything with an alligator. The Izod tradition continues.

Sophomores

The class of 1984 once again has proven what a talented group it is. For the second year in a row the sophomores took first place in the float competition during Homecoming. The class also has a tidy sum in the bank for the prom next year due to the strategic money-making schemes of the class officers. These are just a few examples that show this is a class with class.

Dori Zampiello has been playing football for three years. This year he ended his football season by playing on the varsity squad for the last seven games. Being a varsity member may have its advantages, but Dori says he began to miss his friends on the JV squad because they had a great comradeship. As for the future, Dori is not planning on football being a big part of his life, although he would like to play in college.

Freshmen

The freshmen's year got off to a fine start according to the frosh class officers. The freshmen mixer gave everyone a chance to meet the class officers, cheerleaders, football players and other freshmen. Building the float was also one event which gave classmates a chance to socialize. The float, which was built at treasurer Kenny Opachko's house, did not place in the float competition, but the Warhawks did "Slam the Doors on Saxons" on Homecoming night.

Frosh officers are: Pres. — John Hundley, V.P. — Molly Conlin, Sec. — Amy Rakowski, Treas. — Kenny Opachko

The Dating Game

Freshmen dating is almost nonexistent. When the yearbook staff asked for freshmen couples, they only found one twosome. It may be that freshmen are less active in extracurricular activities or they are just private about their social lives. Another answer could be that most freshmen have to rely on their parents for transportation. It can be quite embarrassing having your parents give your boyfriend the third degree. Like, "Where are you going? Do we know your parents? Are they rich? You are planning on going to college are you not? . . .

"What . . . me go on a date?"

Ask YOUR dream girl out.

There is safety in numbers.

Teachers are the basic reason that this system of education can continue to do as it has done year after year. Their duties as educators continually contribute to the value of our immediate area and to the growth of individuals. The teachers at Madison are greatly appreciated, and we thank them for their contributions and dedication.

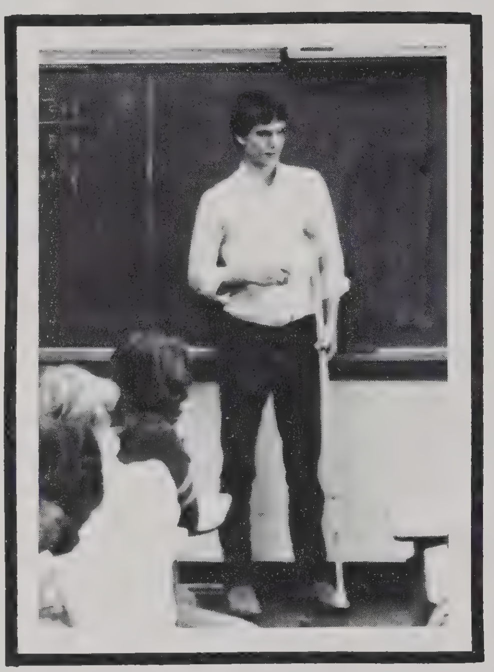
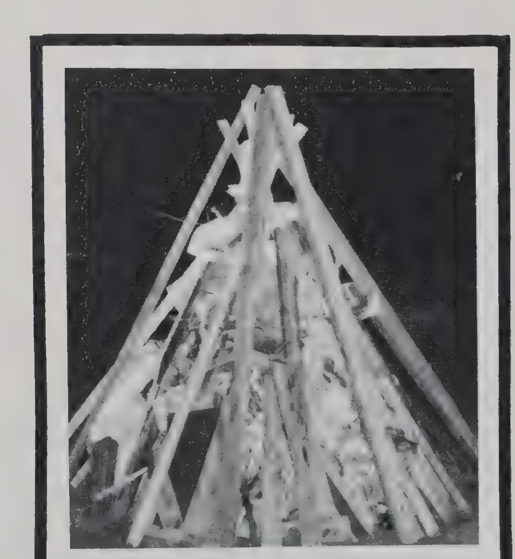
SGA Officers SPEAK OUT



"Tim Hecht speaks on safety"



"We do it with flare!"

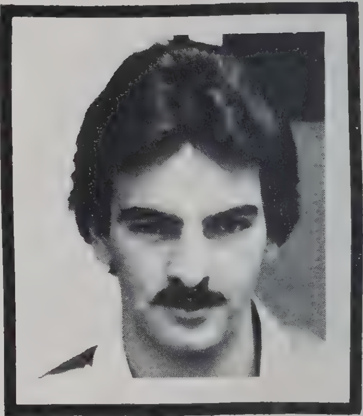
What achievement of the SGA do you feel was most significant?
Of the many new and traditional activities the SGA sponsored this year, the retreats and Leadership Conferences were by far the most significant because they train SGA leaders to perform their duties, and provide motivation. These activities come back to the Student Body every day in many forms! Mary-Beth Roberts, Pres.

What was the most enjoyable part about being on SGA?
The most enjoyable part this year was seeing everyone's hard work turn out one successful event after another. After being in SGA for three years, I would have to say that the 81-82 cabinent was by far the most productive. I think the SGA is a vital link between the Faculty and the Student body. Ken Ehinger, VP.

What do you consider to be the most outstanding characteristic of the 81-82 body?
I feel that the most outstanding characteristic is definitly spirit. It is overwhelming — especially at the Pep Rallies! Sure, it takes awhile for FROSH to get into the "spirit of things", but soon after the upperclassmen show their strong support for the school, the frosh forget their previous doubts and everyone gets caught up in the excitement. Bridget O'Neill, Sec.

In what ways do you think Madison could most improve? I think that Madison is by far the best school around, but there is always room for improvement. This year there seems to have been a bond between students which has led to a great increase in participation and productivity

Mary-Beth Roberts



Ken Ehinger

over past years. I hope in the coming years school spirit and participation will continue to increase. Mark Fitzgerald, Treas.

The Student Government Association of James Madison serves as a link between Students and Administration. This years cabinent organized and planned many activities throughout the year of which many were new traditions. Examples of these were the Retreats and Leadership workshops and also the first successful Christmas Semi-Formal. They are proud of all of their accomplishments, and thankful for student participation! These are the 1981-82 Student Government Cabinent Members: L. Ewing, K. DiPietro, S. Thomas, S. Fox, J. Needham, T. Peterson, Pam Millet, Patti Millet, M. Draddy, J. Hilbreth, L. Wallner, L. Seeman, S. Shields, L. Husson, C. Moulthrop, M.B. Roberts, K. Johnson, L. Bennett, B. O'Neill, K. Gumpert, J. S.G.A.
WHITE ENTS

"Anarchy?"

SAC represents Student Advisory Council. A organization that represents students' needs, ideas and problems to the School Board. This year, a major concern of administrators and Students alike has been the proposal of a county wide No-Smoking Policy. SAC meets on the Area Level once a month with other Area schools. Ideas are discussed and then presented to the monthly county SAC meeting. This organization has proved to be a very influential source to the board. Even if legislation is not passed, the idea receives full attention.

"Attention!"

"EVITA" Keynotes Band Show

"Horns up!" Complete silence. "1-2, 1, 2, 3, 4." This is all too familiar to Warhawk Band members. Months and months of drilling, practicing, and the acquiring of self-discipline involve everyone who marches on Madison's turf, (as well as asphalt!). Repetition leads to perfection, and it is perfection that is always strived for. Members know that the more difficult the show, the more impressive it is for you and me, as well as more satisfying to them.

This year's show was indeed difficult and indeed impressive. Audiences were thrilled with the sounds from the hit musical, "EVITA", and the scintillating marching patterns on the field as the Flags and Rifles provoked spirit in the crowd.

Special thanks and recognition go to Drum Majors, Andy Siprelle '82, and Hilary Schmidt '83, for their leadership and time with their talented peers. Keep up the good work, Band. And don't drop those grapes!

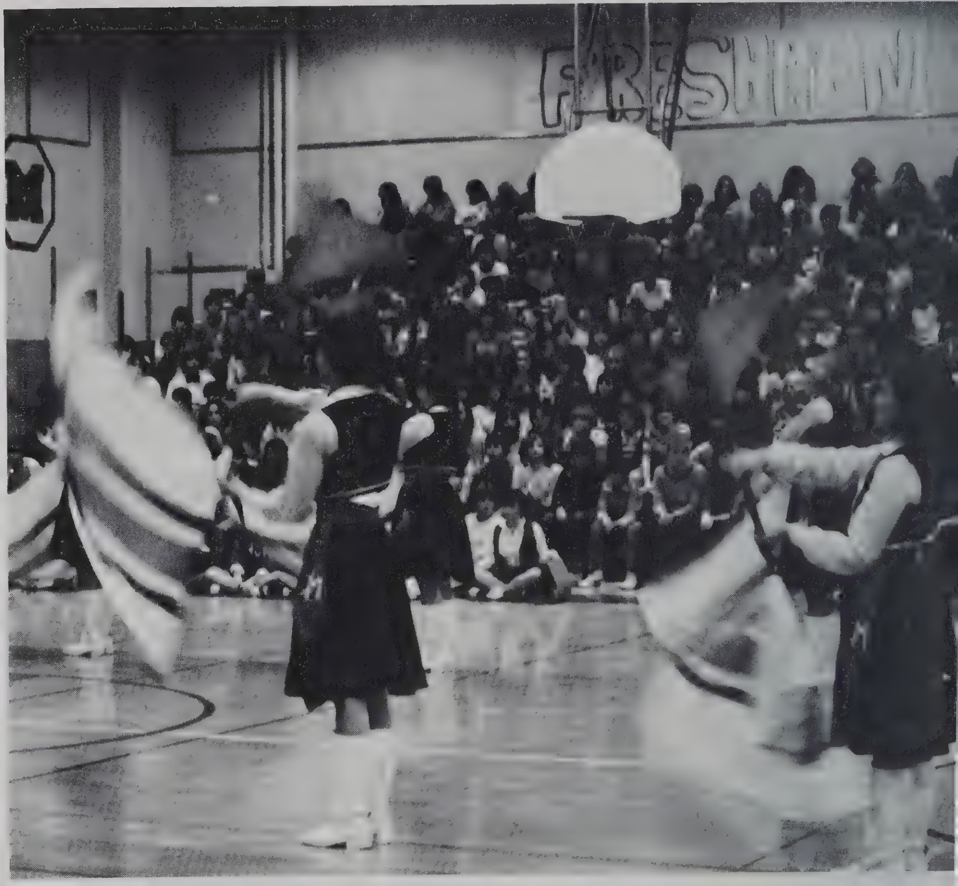
The Red, White and Black Say:

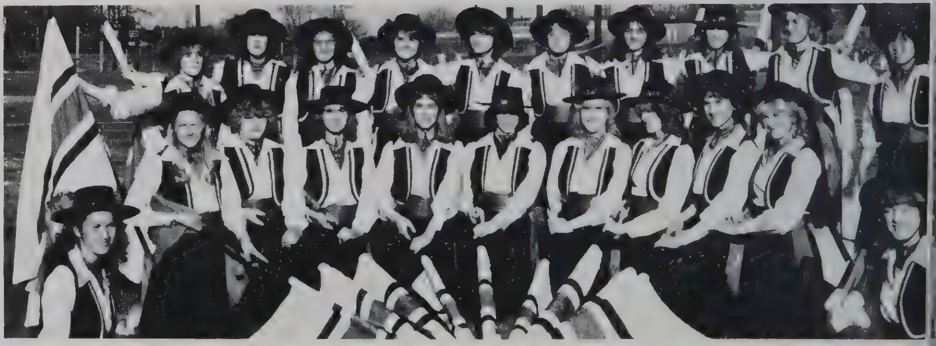
"That's the Fact, Jack!"

If you saw the movie, "STRIPES," you will know that the headline statement above indicates that those Flag and Rifle girls know what they're doing! The Colorguard is the ingredient that adds sparkle and animation to the quality music of the Marching Band. They have entertained us at Half-Time Shows and Pep Rallies, leaving us in awe of their sharp look and skilled precision.

The Flags have maintained their impressive talent and style of old, but have also added something new. They've put on a new hat this year, and it definitely adds "dash" to their uniformity. "SUCCESS, Madison Flag Line, undoubtedly, spells success."



"Does this not remind you of, "A sail! A sail!"



Front Row: Co-Captains Tamara Mast, Chris Kelly. Middle: Mollie Beaver, Susan Gregory, Jennifer Harris, Karen Tanner, Alison McDougal, Susan Baer, Barbie Morgan, Judy Berger, Jennifer Smith. Back: Meg Brooks, Alice Griffin, Laurie Miles, Nina Radspinner, Wendy Westbrook, Nancy Ormsby, Debby Levy, Monica Taylor, Val Beaudoin, Kim McGuire.

"Co-Cap. Chris Kelly checks Band to see if they're up to par for her Flags."

"Rifles lead off the Band in Homecoming Parade."

We don't know if those Rifle girls can shoot or not, but they sure have made it their aim to twirl and toss. After seeing their half-time show, one can say that they have hit their mark. This was just the second year the Warhawk Band has had a Rifle Corps, and for being as green as the girls are, they have shown an absolutely superb talent which has developed vast improvements from last year. Much of their encouragement and instruction has been given by their Captain Susan Jones, who is herself a most talented young lady. If the Rifles keep improving as they did this year, Madison's Band is going to have a group of "daughters of a gun."

Spotlight

Susan Jones, Rifle Captain 1980 thru present, was also titled, 1981 Virginia State Dance-Twirl Champion. Susan, who choreographs her own shows, performed at half-time during the football district playoff.

To add to her accomplishments, she was Virginia's Junior Miss of 1978, and her present goal is to be a feature twirler at the University she plans to attend.

After a hard and long summer the Pom-Pon Squad showed that practice and determination pays off. Under the coaching of captains Kathy Murphy and Kathy Tyson, the squad developed many new and interesting routines. The Pom-Pon Squad was a source of both pride and pleasure to the whole student body. We hope that next year the squad will have as great a success.

Hooked On Classics

This years Concert and Symphonic Bands did several performances to entertain Madisonians. These two bands combined and composed Madison's renowned Marching Band of which the school is so proud. Symphonic Band performs a higher degree of difficulty in music, leaving the Concert Band to most underclassmen. Members of both bands strive each week for a higher chair by challenging one another to a musical competition. This promotes improvement.

Band Members (Symphonic): J. Beaudoin, V. Beaudoin, D. Beckenstein, J. Berger, R. Blank, M. Brooker, P. Bush, A. Caughey, K. Close, M. Draddy, D. Dzuik, J. Eckert, B. Fain, D. Geesey, K. Golden, M. Good For The

The Madison French Club is a club through which both French and non-French students may get to know the French culture, language, and people better. One of the highlights of the year is a three to four day trip to Canada. This trip usually occurs at the end of January and consists of three different schools from Fairfax County. Regular activities are weekly meetings with speakers, slide shows, and bake sales. The officers are: Wally Clement — President, Jennifer Keller — Vice President, Leily Sheikholeslami — secretary, Sharon Brown — Treasurer, and Mr. Reitz, the club's sponsor. It is a fun and interesting club.

The Latin Club at Madison is run by Robert Blank who is the Certamen Chairman, Bill Clinton who is the Vice President, Jamie Farver who is the President, Mary Ann Evans the treasurer, and Mrs. Montross, the club's sponsor.

During the year the club does many interesting things such as going on picnics, seeing plays, and taking field trips. The members of the club enjoy themselves, especially while dressed up in their togas. The club studies the mythology and the cultures of ancient times.

Dues support the clubs activities. The club also locates HOST families for new AFS students. Their regular activities are candy sales, short term exchanges with other schools, a spring picnic, and a trip to Bush Gardens. Mr. Marshall is the sponsor.

Intellectually Speaking

Forensics is the art of public speaking, ranging from poetry readings to original speeches to impromtu speaking. The Madison Forensics Team is a small but talented group of students who prepare for monthly meets throughout the county. Students may compete in any category and are encouraged to try a variety of areas. In the Spring, there are district, regional, and State meets. The sponsor of the team is Mrs. Marcia Grahame and the captain is Mary Bowman.

The purpose of the English team is to apply one's knowledge of the english language outside the classroom in an activity that is both fun and educational. The members of the English team are selected on the basis of their verbal SAT scores. They practice weekly for two meets in January and February, in competition with other county high schools. Questions involve vocabulary, grammar, and reading comprehension. Regular activities require time and preparation on the part of a skilled team.

The James Madison Science Club meets bi-weekly to explore new topics of interest. The Club's primary purpose is to promote scientific interest in Madison. To accomplish this, the club encourages participation in such activities as the Regional Science Fair and the Physics Olympics. In addition, the club sponsors field trips and invites guest speakers to provide further scientific knowledge to all interested students. The Club's sponsor is Mr. John Kline. The officers are: President — John Kinlaw, Vice President Lisa Courtney, Secretary Keith Fitz, and the Treasurer is Gretchen Baier. The goal of the club is to interest students at James Madison High School in science.

Front: Richard Gross, Gretchen Baier, Keith Fitts, Howard Sobel. Back: Steve Gumnels, Traci Travareks, John Kinlaw, Lisa Courtney, Bill Matlack, and Mark Lau.

The Math Club meets for the purpose of competing in local and state competitions with other high schools in the county. The top students enter national competitions as well. The team meets twice a month.

The German Club is one of the new clubs this year. It was formed to increase the general awareness of the versitality of the German language. Although not many people realize it, the German language is one of the most widely spoken languages in continental Europe. It is not only the national language of both East and West Germany, but of Austria and Lichtenstein. It is also one of the three major languages spoken in Switzerland. The German Club meets once a week in room 209 and the members discuss and practice speaking in the German tounge.

The New Right

The Teenage Republicans this year took a very active part in this school's political outlook. The club's goal is to increase the awareness of the young people attending Madison of the goals and ideas of the Republican party. They include how present goals will affect us, the future voters of Virginia and the U.S. The T.A.R. held a very interesting and informational seminar in which the ideas of the party and how their ramifications were discussed. Another one is in the makings for next year.

The National Honor Society is a organization compromised of a select group of Juniors and Seniors who have demonstrated that they posses the special skills and abilities to maintain at least a 3.5 average and show high academic integrity. The purpose of the N.H.S. is to create a enthusiasm for high academic achievement and a sense of honor in these accomplishments. The N.H.S. also provides a free tutoring service for students in need of help in certain academic endeavors. Many of the members of this organization apart from being outstanding scholars and exceptionally bright students also participate in many other school activities, so they are already bound for success in life. The club's sponsor is Mrs. Peggy Sud.

Programs for the Future

The Computer Science Club was formed by a group of individuals interested in using computers to both learn more about them and to teach those with less knowledge. The purpose of the club is to promote interest and knowledge in the field of computer science. Regular activities consist of instructing people in computer language, discussing computer-related topics, and contests in the computer field. The officers of the club are: Jonathan Mendelsohn — President, Richard Gross — Vice President, Brad Davis — Secretary, and Tim Dixon — Officer of the Law. The sponsor is Mrs. O'Brien. They decided to form the club so they could gain more time to improve their skills. This is the first year that the club has been established.

Over the course of the year, led by Mr. Edmondson, the Financial Insights Club or the Future Millionaires Club learned about investing in real estate, precious metals, the foreign exchange (currency exchange), and commodities. They also watched market conditions change when world events occured. The purpose of the club is to learn about making money through all types of investments and observing market indicators. The clubs regular activities are meetings every Tuesday on a weekly basis for half an hour to discuss investments and possibilities of becoming future millionaires.

The members of the club are Mr. Edmondson, Curtis Beachely, and Greg Ashley.

Recipes and Prophecies

The Future Homemakers of America (FHA) has run the Miss Madison Pageant successfully for the past ten years, and every spring it runs the bloodmobile. These have been two regular activities for the club. This year members have extended themselves by trying to do more for the community by activities such as adopting two girls from a home over Christmas and stuffing stockings for the Red Cross. The FHA meets twice a month to do other services for the community. The officers of the club are: Peggy Boyle — President, Mernie Sams — Vice President, Kellie Conlin — Secretary, Nancy Hulbert — Treasurer, Hope Dix — Historian, Beth Sealy — Reporter, and Mrs. Walochik — Sponsor.

Prospects for Broadway

Madison's most noted choir is the Madrigals. They sing songs by sixteenth century Spanish composers and more. It's made up of thirteen talented students. They tour parts of the Fairfax area and Virginia. All of the choirs perform year round at many different concerts and competitions. Even though it is an elective class the students devote many after school hours to make award-winning musical groups.

Sweet Success

This is a brand new club that has shown complete success. It is the A.A. Milne Society. Several Madison students decided to meet regularly to discuss the famous works of A.A. Milne, that famous creator of Pooh, Piglet, Christopher Robin, and Tiger, too. The club decided to order T-shirts which display Pooh-in-his-huney pot to add to the adorability of their group. Great Things Come From Strings

Although many people may not realize it, Madison apart from having an excellent Band also has an outstanding orchestra. Madison's orchestra performs at many important events through the year, including the Miss Madison pageant and other important social events. This year the Orchestra sponsored a raffle to raise money for their organization; it was a overwhelming success and will probably be used again next year.

The Kinetics Club is one of several new clubs this year. The goals of this club are to have fun and lose weight dancing and to get in better physical form. The Club meets every Tuesday and Thursday either in the cafeteria or the auditorium and any other place which offers music and room for dancing.

The Saftey Council promotes school and community saftey by holding a poster contest, bike rodeo, and a road rally in which drivers maneuver a set course. The competition is judged by a given time limit in which drivers must demonstrate safe driving habits. Saftey week is an annual event for Madison.

The team finished a very successful season being only narrowly defeated by a tough Ft. Hunt team in the semifinals of Northern Region play-offs. After losing two of the first five games, the team came back to win the last five games of the regular season highlighted by a crushing 20-0 victory over crosstown rival Marshall. This won the school the Great Falls District Championship. Several players were named to the All-District and All-Region teams. Tim Hecht, who led one of the youngest teams Coach Sell has ever had, was named to the first All-met team. This season was one of Madison's best, and one that will be remembered by those involved with the outstanding team.

Although the varsity boys' team got off to a slow start, they improved greatly by the end of the season. The boys competed in four invitational meets and five regular meets. They finished second in the district and went on to the regional meet where they placed ninth. Although there were many good runners on the team, the exceptional people were Ken Halla, Andy Toohey, Mike Geary, and Danny Johnson. Ken Halla placed first in district and first in regionals. Andy Toohey placed second in district. Julie Leonard placed first in district and first in regionals, also. Congratulations to all for a great season.

Exhaustion sets in.

THE LONG RUN

The girls' cross country team completed a very successful season. This was the second year the girls had ever run together as a team. The team competed in four invitational meets in addition to five regular meets. After finishing second in the district, the girls advanced to the regional meet where they placed fifth.

Cheering on the Sidelines

The cheerleaders have really given their all to promote school spirit this year. The J. V. and Varsity girls went to the University of William & Mary during the summer to make for fantastic spirit boosters for all sports events and pep rallies. The Freshmen worked just as hard to promote spirit for the 'baby-hawks' during the pep rallies and sports events also. Thanks girls for working hard to keep Madison's spirits soaring.

MAKING A LOT OF RACQUET

The girls tennis team, led by captains Karen Johnson and Cindy Duncan, put in a great effort and worked harder than ever. They practiced every day, and it showed greatly in the meets. Coach Middleman ranked senior Jennie Crim as the top player on the team, and Cindy Duncan came in second. Because everyone's skills improved greatly with all the hard practice, the team has a very successful future to look forward to.

Carolyn and Elinor take a Break

The Varsity Swimming and Diving Team is looking forward to a victorious season. They have already won three meets against McLean, Marshall, and Yorktown. Langley unfortunatly beat them by eighteen points. Due to weather conditions, two meets have been cancelled and will be made up in a future meet. After three years of coaching, Mr. DeLuca has turned his efforts over to Mr. Adams, the new coach. One outstanding team member, Engel, is excellent in free style and has superb National times. Robby and Barry Dyson have also been an asset to the talented team.

Shooting Hoops

Do to several key injuries the varsity team got off to a sluggish start but turned the season around to become a serious district contender. Standouts of the team include senior Jeoff Hendricks, Jay Miller, and juniors of Nicholas Greiner, James MacNamara, and Dino Ewing. One of the highlights of the year was the thrilling upset of highly regarded South Lakes. The team did exceptionally well under the coaching of George McLean.

The wrestling team this year, under the leadership of seniors and second year coach Chuck Ostland, greatly improved over last year's season with a high placement in the district standings and an impressive won-lost record. Coach Ostland remarked that with out a few injuries to key wrestlers and more than one loss by the margin of one or two points, this season would have been even more outstanding. A few of the outstanding members of the team this year were transfer students; Lenny Schultz and John Magness, Bobby Brown and Yung Chull Kim. Coach Ostlund, a former Madison wrestler himself, also said that many promising wrestlers were going to return next year to makeup another fine team.

A letter From The Editors

Education is defined as the action or process of learning, but at Madison education is more than just gaining knowledge. It is relating to others and working together to organize special activities, develop top athletic teams, and gain the freedom to grow individually. Within the 1981-82 school year, students have achieved many such goals through effort and willingness.

In the fall, Madison's football team gained the title of District Champions. The other athletic teams all have shown skill and vigor. The drama department produced a spectacular play, The Miser. Throughout the year, the S.G.A. has sponsored numerous soc-hops and dances, including an unforgetable Christmas dance. These are just a few of the accomplishments at Madison: they are the result of individuals who accept a challenge and succeed in their efforts.

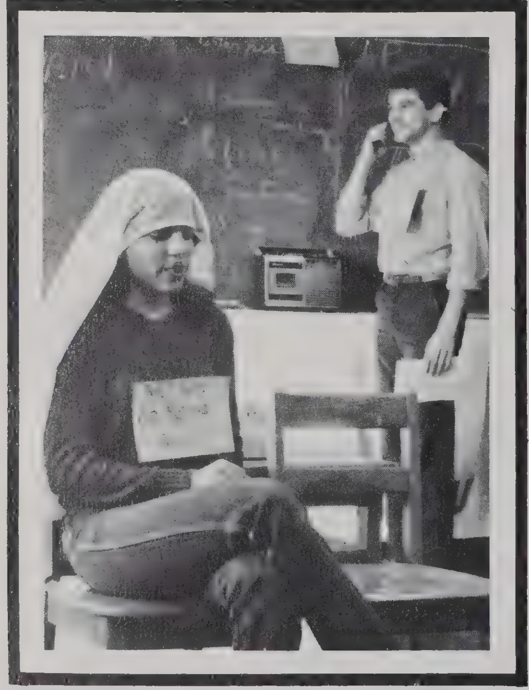
All The World's A Stage



Dial M for Murder. In Mike Svat's Spanish IV, V Class, he plans the murder of his classmate Ann Doolittle as part of a class presentation.

Using their theatrical talents, Mrs. Sherry Levitt (front center) and her English Honors class enact a scene from Nathaniel Hawthorne's The Scarlet Letter. Th class skit was one of several ways through which the students learned about th Puritan traditions and beliefs of early American settlers.

Orally practicing lines to an upcoming project, Susan Baer, Laura Garza, Cindy Ralls, and Suzanne Silva encounter some minor problems in dialogue.

Cheryl Kim, a member of the concert choir, Allison Mac Dougall, a member of the color guard, and Julie Roach, a actress in many school plays, are three of many fine perfor mers at Madison.

The limelight is not restricted to actors on stage. During class, in the hall, and at any gathering there are always those people who stand out in a crowd, the people who liven the pace of an otherwise monotonous day. They are people who are outgoing, persuasive, and have all the other qualities of a good actor. To distinguish these people from others an observer only needs to watch their actions and listen to their dialogue. A broad smile or unnerving scowl adds to their countenance; they say what they mean, and mean what they say!

In the beginning of the year, the new scheduling, assignments, and friends provide enough interest to pass a quarter of the year with ease. Classmates receive only the choicest jokes and mumblings at this point. The extrovert times his or her replies with great skill, and the subtle humor is usually in acceptable, if not good, taste.

The second quarter is noticeably slower, but this passage of time gives a more commanding part to the student spokesman. While others resign themselves to the fate of homework, quizzes, and tests, the extrovert finds more opportunities to assume a leading role. He or she is quicker to comment on matters of mundane importance, and his or her jokes seem a bit old. There is comfort in knowing the halfway point is nearing, both for the performer and the captive audience.

By a large majority of people, the third quarter is considered to be the slowest grading period. It is a time when school seems to have lasted forever, yet summer is out of reach. Looking back at the first semester, any bystander wonders how he or she will bear the remainder of the year, especially with increasingly bad jokes from the nearest comedian. Becoming himself bored with the usual routine of the day, the extrovert now tends to use a series of props for accompaniment. Gags bought at Spencer's become commonplace to the disdain of most observers, yet the performer tells enough saving jokes to retain a favorable reputation.

Forth quarter is welcomed by numerous sighs. The limelight is no longer strained; the tension of the year is over. Fond farewells are exchanged. The master of instant laughter and quick wit exits his or her stage.

Obviously, the comedian is only one of many noteable people who seek the limelight, but his actions have earned him an unparalleled standing. Some times will fade in memories; however, the most vivid happenings will probably always remain in some obscure form. The extrovert who always knows what to say but not always when to say it must be placed in this category. Times when classes never seemed to end, but then remember when . . .

Snow Days Have Arrived

Jeep fever has its practical side; 4-wheel drive is terrific on snow-covered roads.

Wake up, hit the alarm, turn on the radio ... no school? The surest sign of winter has been present in large quantities. Several times students have awaken to one or two hour delayed openings, and in mid-January heavy snowfalls closed school. Breaks from classes have always provided chances to catch a couple hours extra sleep, do unfinished homework, or enjoy the snowscape.

With winter vacation the holiday has overshadowed books and exams. Everyone has been busy preparing for vacations, and the annual ski trip is the topic of conversation. Along with ski fever there have been door decorating contests, canned food drives, and caroling.

White days, cold mornings, and chilly classrooms have filled the first season of the year. The changes remind observers that time is passing, but in the midsts of winter weather, summer only something to daydream about ... as one watches snow falling through a classroom window.

Just one snowball!

Cheerleaders eat?!

A major complaint among Madison students is the taste of the food. They feel it has none. What can be expected for 95¢? Lunch is not only eating, though. It is also a time for friends to get together and share the latest news, or to get that last bit of homework done, or to just plain relax. As for the food, well, taste isn't everything!

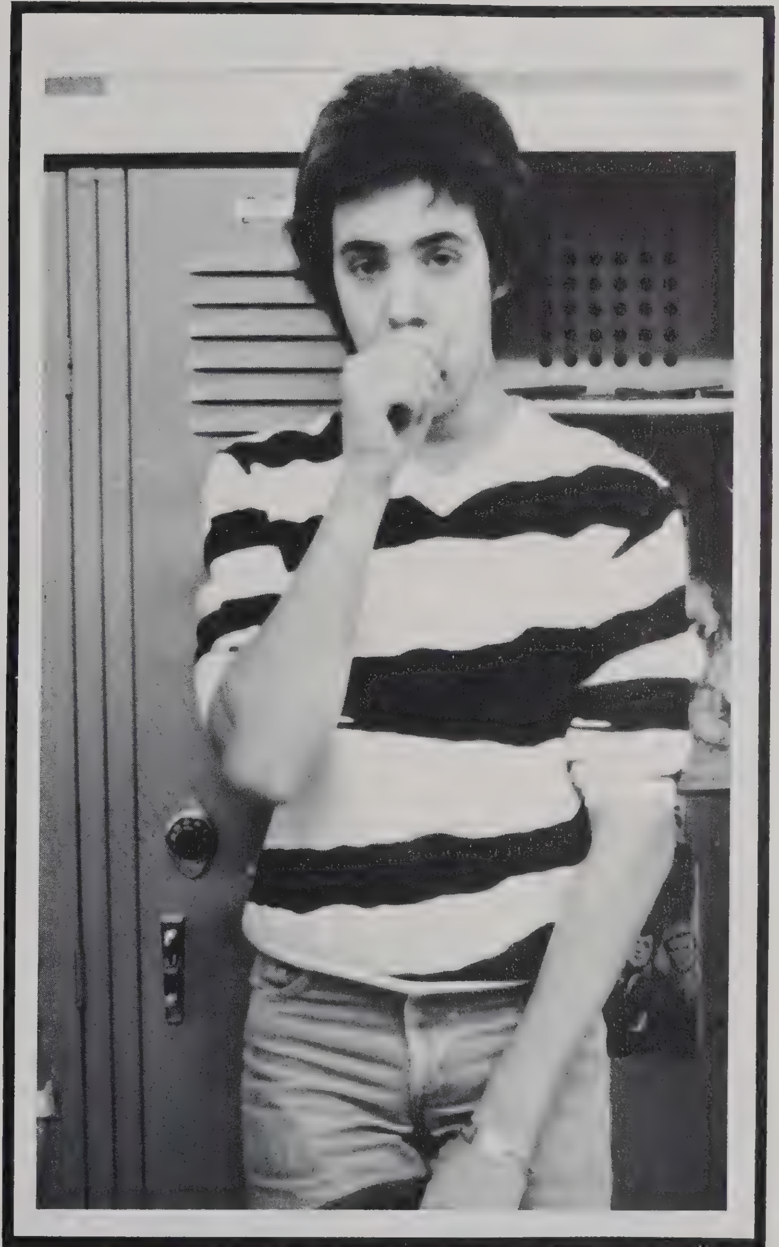
Caught In The Land Of Nods

It's Monday morning — 6:00 a.m. — and the alarm goes off. "This is just a bad dream," one might think. After contemplating a feigned sickness, he rolls out of bed and begins his day. One of the many hardships which accompany school is the early hours. Students can often be seen yawning or actually sleeping in class. What is the reason for this perpetual exaustion? The answer could be one of many!

tudents collapse, but not until they make it to the Coke nachine!

John Kinlaw relaxes in the midst of a stimulating class.



It's so hard to wake up on Monday mornings!

Milestones

If any observer asks what the major accomplishments of the year are, he will find a variety of answers. There is an obvious growth in knowledge; teachers and textbooks assure their students of such progress. As the year's hurried pace slows, however, reflections go beyond recent exams and assignments. Present relationsips have grown since September. Through a nine-month duration, the person who lends classmates paper, pencils, and an occasional smile has become a valued friend. His classes and hobbies are catalogued alongside a number of other entries in an orderly, if not reliable, memory. Who sits immediately on the left in english class? When does first lunch end? What are their names? All of this carefully compiled information has become the past. It is doubtful that anyone will recall many of these details in the future, but for now, they are a basic part of each day. Memories will fade over the coming years; nonetheless, the attitudes and thoughts people have gained here will continue with them.

David Ryan catches his breath after one of many long practices which filled the year.

Two people who will always stop for a friend. At the finish of the day, Debby Frost and Mike Sharkey reflect their outgoing personalities in wide smiles.

The Montpelier, The Hawk Talk, and The Heritage

Remember your year . . .

The three major publications of James Madison High School are sold for a subscription price of $20.00. Assembled by students, this block sale provides everyone connected with the school a unique and comprehensive review of the year. Sales occur during the first part of the year, and the publications reflect the attitudes held by people from that point to the close of the school year.

Remember your yearbook.

Congratulations to all Madison seniors and special appreciation to those who have attended our Youth Group.

Our goal — A non-denominational search for friendship and guidance in an exciting world.

The Montpelier Staff

Making the yearbook was harder than most of us expected. It was not simply sticking pictures to the page and popping it into the ole' zerox. We had one page for layouts, one page for borders, and two pages for copy. From all this we got one piece of finished graphic work.

Taking pictures, such as class officers, was a project in itself. They were supposed to show up on the 5th. The president showed up on the 5th, the vice-president on the 6th, and the secretary on the 4th, and the treasurer had an orthodontist appointment.

As deadlines neared, most sections encountered "The Montpelier Triangle." Into the triangle disappeared pictures, copy, entire pages, and an occasional student or two. When it was all over and we watched the people's faces light up as they found their pictures, one brave soul stood in front of the class and said, "I think it was all worth while." Burial services were held on a sunny afternoon; it was a wonderful ceremony.

Spring:

The weather gets warmer, suntans are prevalent, and impatience worsens as June nears. Spring is a time when the last thing a person wants to do is sit in a hot classroom. The pools are open, and whenever possible, Warhawks abandon their usual duties for the "lazy, hazy, crazy days" of the warm season.

Trademarks of the year's end include sweat and competition. Since Madison's older school wing does not have air-conditioning, the athletes are not the only people to feel the characteristic temperatures of May and June. Electric fans and open windows are common methods to escape the heat. Occasionally teachers conduct sketching and writing assignments outdoors in the comfort of a breeze and some shade; it is a practice students welcome.

Upperclassmen find special importace in the close of the year. For Juniors it is a time to assume the clout of being the next graduating class as well as to get their class rings. The Class of '82 is busy preparing for college. Replies of acceptance and plans for summer dominate every conversation. The only thing some seniors still wonder about is how four years at Madison passed so quickly.

To the People of '82

With the end of the year, several attempts are always made to look back over the accomplishments and failures of the past. There is no formula that allows us to easily relive our memories, no way to recapture the days that have past. 1981-82 has been a good year. Its events will remain catalogued here and in our minds.

Someday, when we let our thoughts wander, people say we will remember these "carefree days." In doing so, I believe we will not envision the tests and grades of today, but the people around us. Friends who have made us laugh and who have shared our thoughts are too important to forget. They are the memories we will carry with us.

Out of all the opportunities we have at Madison, the greatest one is the opportunity to learn from other people: not from text, but from other people's ideas and feelings. We leave Madison with the knowledge we have compiled and all the thoughts others have given to us. The Senior Class faces new surroundings in the colleges that they will attend next fall while the rest of us will return to fill their places. Nonetheless, the future will be different from the present for each of us.

With the end of the year, we should not turn to the certainties of the past, but to the possibilities of the future.
